28 August 1987

I Met Andy Warhol At A Really Chic Party,

Damn! Summer's come and gone--where the hell did it go? Sometimes it seems the music industry at large has this archetypal vision of Music Directors at college radio stations during the summer in which The Beach plays a major role. Well, I didn't get to spend much of my summer out in the sun(I tried it on the first day of the season-ya know, the longest day of the year-forgot my sunscreen, and got hopelessly fried). but unfortunately, I also didn't spend much of my summer stuffing envelopes with playlists, either. But I reported religiously. And I got caught up with a whale of a back log of new releases. And I got to go to NMS("vacation"), and have my surname changed(the name's Burkhart, dammit, not "Burk"! What'd they do, leave my "hart" in San Francisco? Sorry, had to get that off my chest...). So all in all, a neutral 20th Anniversay of The Summer Of Love.

But that's all water under the bridge. Hey! Classes start on Monday. So does our Fall schedule. Big turnover of DJs and playlist albums. Hectic times. I'm psyc(h)ed)-osemantic about the new school year. Will get it together real soon. Until then...

P.S.: Screaming Trees, Hollywood Indians
Cynics, King Missile, Surf MCs, Mojo--
Wicked Fresh!

Blow It Out Yer Hair-do,
'Cause You Work At Hardee's,

Bryce
